

MOBISOCIAL COMPUTING LABORATORY
AFFILIATES AGREEMENT

In order to become a member of the MobiSocial Computing Laboratory Affiliate Program ("Program"), _____ ("Company") agrees to pay the sum of $200,000.00 to the Program fund. The Program offers its members opportunities for an informal exchange of ideas among industry representatives and Stanford University researchers

Such interactions often precipitate joint projects between Stanford researchers and one or more companies. The Program also provides a unique venue for companies to discuss and collaborate with each other.

1. This Agreement is effective when Company pays its first annual contribution to the Program fund, and may be terminated at any time after the first annual period without further payment by written notice from either STANFORD or COMPANY to the other.
2. Company will be invited to participate in Program annual retreats, workshops, and seminars.
3. Company will be invited to an annual meeting, receive information on the work in progress, and participate in discussions about Program research directions.
4. Company will receive assistance, if desired, in arranging interviews between individual students and company representatives.
5. Stanford University developed data and information resulting from the Program research shall be shared with all members. Stanford University shall be free to publish such data and information.
